As our tribute to all those who have served and the families of our service men and women we commemorated ANZAC Day in a different manner from the usual solemn service this year. Students from our Year 6/7 class performed a play adapted from the book “ANZAC Biscuits” written by Phil Cummings and illustrated by Owen Swan.

All those present were treated to a taste of the original recipe biscuits made by the Year 6/7 students. We were also treated to a student wearing his great grandfather’s World War I uniform from the RAAF. Everyone was delighted with the amazing display of uniforms and infantry items kindly loaned to us for the play by Mrs Kimmince.

Our guest speaker from the local RSL branch addressed the assembly before the formal playing of The Last Post and minute’s silence.
